

More Signal. Less Friction. Faster to Submission.

koneksa

Integrating measurement science, biometric services, and intelligent software so clinical evidence moves faster from data to decision.

Koneksa Health is a measurement and data science partner built for the full arc of clinical development.

We connect scientific strategy, operational execution, and purpose-built technology to help teams generate clearer evidence, reduce friction, and move with greater confidence from study setup through submission.

By designing and using our own technology, Koneksa brings the efficiencies of integrated operations directly to our partners: faster execution, stronger quality, greater regulatory confidence, and lower total cost.

Three Capabilities, One Integrated Model

Database Builds

Configure, validate, and manage EDC environments across digital and traditional data streams, with one partner from study setup through database lock.

Digital Services

Capture, integrate, and transform wearable, sensor, and mobile data into evidence through sensor-agnostic pipelines and scalable data infrastructure.

Data Stewardship

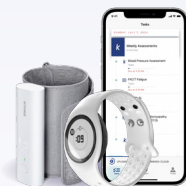

Monitor data quality, manage reconciliation, and maintain oversight across complex biometric and digital data flows.

Technology Built from Real Trial Execution

Koneksa Platform

Operationalize digital endpoints with validated measures, and wearable and mobile device integration built for remote and patient-centric trials.

Deploy it with Koneksa as your operating partner, or license the platform to support your own digital measurement programs.

LODESTAR

Intelligent submission software that unifies biometric operations, CDISC mapping, ADaM generation, QC, and eCTD assembly in one AI-assisted, auditable submission workflow.

Explore it with Koneksa through early access, or use Lodestar™ as part of a full biometrics program designed to reduce time and cost.

Generate faster, more confident clinical evidence with Koneksa's services, software, or the full stack.
